Sir, -May I through your courtesy add my small contribution to the trubpon literature of the season before it is relegated to the limbo of the dead issues of the year. So much has been written and said about the matter of storm warnings that we are justified in supposing that there will in future be an alteration for the better in the reception of timely notice of coming storms. What I have to say relates to the distribution of such notice, in other words the typhoon Signal. Dr. Doberck says in his published, pamphlet that he has "invented and started a system of Meteorological Signals," and as all great inventors designs are capable of modification, I trust that he will not consider it presumptuous if I. suggest what seems to me an improvement. Part of the function of the signal hoisted is to waru those on board ship of the threatened storm; and I think it will be allowed that it is advisable to give all the information available. In many cases it is not easy or practicable for such persons to go ashore and consult the bulletin at the Telegraph Office, and the published Expresses do not come their way, the bald information conveyed by the drum and cones is not very satisfying to a person charged with the responsibility of a vessel, and I think that the particulars as stated in the bulletins may racily be signalled with a slight addition to the present equipage. My suggestion is that the direction or course of the typhoon when last heard of be hoisted in black symbols at the unoccupied yard-arm, and a distinctive flag at the mast head for the geographical district in which it was situated. The only additional symbols required will be two black cones and squares, the cones to mignify North or South as they at present do by the position in which they are hoisted, and the squares East or West as they are hoisted by the side or corner, is as squares or dismonds. I think, without further explanation, it is evident that the proposed information can be clearly given with such an arrangement, and it would no doubt be appreciated by those for whom it is intended.

Again, there is always uncertainty about the gun signal; in a strong breeze, the sound of the explosion does not come with much emphasis to this side of the harbour, and no one you meet is quite sure about it. I think it might be usefully supplemented by the display of a distinctive typhoon flag. Simultaneously with the discharge of the gun, I would suggest Jarometer ...... 29.88 a large red flag with a white T of heroic pro- l'emperature ..... portions in the field. One of the faults of Humidity ...... the present system is that in misty weather Direction of wind ... E.N.E. the signals are not distinct, and I would recommend any flags used as signal to be of the size of the ordinary ensign, say 15 ft. by 9 ft. or. thereabouts. For economy's sake they might be banled down after being displayed half an hour. It would also be an advantage to have a light signal for the imminent approach of a typhoon at night to which the discharge of the gun would call attention - Yours, &c., BINBAD.

IMPERIAL QUARTO. ENNGLISH AND CHINES: DICTIONARY .-WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at

Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous ob jects in machinery, photography, telegraphy and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typograph displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:

Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 be forwarded to the Continent of Europe by Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English the four-weekly, direct German Packets via and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst Bremerhaven at the rates stated below.
